Introduction from Nigel Paul, Chair APUC

On behalf of the Board of APUC Limited, I am delighted to again introduce APUC’s Annual Report, this time for the year 2011 -12.

APUC continued to successfully operate as a trusted partner to colleges and universities. Over recent years it has achieved significant increases in outputs and expansion of service provision whilst taking considerable steps to make the organisation much leaner. This culture of lean management is now fully embedded in the organisation. The resourcing now in place and in-plan represents a significant reduction in its operational budget versus the earlier years of APUC’s existence and provides a good platform for future developments. The benefits validation process undertaken during the year (for the previous academic year) identified over £11m of savings from collaborative contracting alone, with the price saving element being generally measured against previous prices paid.

APUC are also developing a versus market methodology (savings versus the price an institution would have paid had it not had access to a collaborative agreement) to report in parallel to that above to demonstrate the sustained savings being obtained from continued use of collaborative contracting. It is estimated that, under this measure, these benefits alone would well exceed £20m for the period. Early indications are that savings for the 2011/12 year, which will be validated in 2012/13, will be significantly higher.

APUC’s Strategic Plan for the period from 2012 to 2015 was published in May 2012. Within this Plan, the expectations of the community form the core of APUC’s responsibilities and strategic organisational scope. The plan was formulated through regular dialogue with senior stakeholders across all institutions to ensure that their expectations are fulfilled. The Plan also links the University and College sectors and the Scottish Government in moving forward the Public Procurement Reform Programme in a manner appropriate to the sector.

The work done by APUC was highlighted in the UK report “Efficiency and Effectiveness in Higher Education” published last September. This report cited the structures and processes we have with APUC and the institutional Procurement community in Scotland as good practice and encouraged the rest of the UK to learn from our example. APUC has also worked closely with the Universities Scotland Efficiency Taskforce (USET) in setting strategic procurement related objectives and will continue to work with USET in delivery of these. APUC works in partnership with all of the other UK regional HE/FE purchasing consortia, and a new umbrella brand was launched to cover the UK wide approach. This is called the “UK Universities Purchasing Consortia” (UKUPC) and will be used for activities that are delivered jointly across the UK.

During the reporting period, APUC has focussed strongly on expanding the use of collaborative contracting. 131 collaborative contracts were made available to the HE/FE sectors by the end of July 2012 and these had an estimated potential spend value of £326M. Strategic Category work streams were put in place for Estates and ICT to focus resource on these areas and formulate contracting strategies for the next three year period. The ICT work stream will focus strongly on supporting the Government and Sector Digital/ICT Strategies, working in partnership with HEIDS and the Colleges Scotland ICTCoP in taking forward procurement and shared service opportunities.

Building on the benefits already achieved by the client account model, APUC has developed its shared service offering and now provides procurement resources to a number of institutions. Support was also provided to merging colleges to assist with the procurement planning for the combined organisation.

The eSolutions team continued to support existing PECOS and Parablis eprocurement systems and will undertake, in the 2012/13 year, a major programme of rolling out of newly available tools provided by the Scottish Government.

Angus Warren, the Chief Executive, and senior managers also continued with regular stakeholder engagement including a rolling programme of visits to institutions. These ensure that high levels of customer satisfaction are being delivered, and allow APUC to be aware of the constantly changing and varied needs of the sectors, so that it can evolve its delivery model appropriately.

The University and College sectors continued to perform well in the third round of the Procurement Capability Assessment programme. They have responded well to the challenging targets set by the Government and have achieved or exceeded them in the reporting period. APUC has been supporting institutions by focussing on areas for potential improvement and providing appropriate guidance. This approach has been very successful and well received by the institutions involved. The targets for the following period are increasingly demanding and we are confident that client institutions will work closely with APUC to achieve them.

APUC has continued to achieve considerable success for the sectors through working closely with its client institutions collaboratively as one team. I would like to extend my thanks to all institutional staff involved in procurement activity and to all staff of APUC for this outstanding example of sustained and highly productive collaboration.

I should also like to convey my warm thanks to my colleagues on the APUC Board whose guidance and support for the development of APUC have been, and continue to be, extremely valuable and are much appreciated by the management team.

Review of operational activities
August 2011 - July 2012

General
The new APUC Strategic Plan (2012 – 2015) was approved at the AGM in May 2012 and formed the basis of a comprehensive set of staff targets and objectives.

An updated Performance Review and Development process was also implemented to drive progress against the Strategic Plan.

APUC’s satellite office in Glasgow moved to a new location in Buchanan House in November 2011.

Conference on University Purchasing (COUP)
The biennial Conference on University Purchasing was held in St. Andrews on 6-8th September. The event was organised by APUC and hosted by the University of St. Andrews. 230 delegates from 104 HE institutions from across the UK and overseas (with several delegates from as far away as South Africa) attended the conference which offered a mixture of keynote speakers, training seminars and a supplier exhibition with 100 stands.

The event was a huge success and received extremely favourable feedback. The organising committee had a “wrap-up” session at the end of October and findings and lessons learned were passed on to the North Western Universities Purchasing Consortium in order to assist them in preparation for COUP 2013 in Liverpool.

The event made a substantial surplus and, as agreed with the sector, most of this will be used to provide procurement staff development support through a new charity HPDF which was set up in July 2012.

College Services
The total number of contracts supported by the college services team in the year by the end of July 2012 was as follows:

- Contracted: 33
- total value: £4.3M
- number of colleges: 18
- savings cash: £330K
- savings non-cash: £270K

A further 33 were in progress (£6.9M) and 86 planned (£16.2M) across 26 colleges.

The team also provided support for merging institutions such as the new Edinburgh College.

eSolutions
Hunter development was on-going to enhance its capabilities and the quality of spend data made available to the sector.

Contract Uptake website now gathering inputs on contract usage and feedback from users.

Communications
A Strategic “Public sector wide” Communications strategy is under continual development in conjunction with Scottish Procurement via the Communications Forum. This strategy is in line with the priorities outlined in the Scottish Government’s Delivery Plan for Procurement Reform.

The APUC weekly eZine continues to be the principal communication channel with institutions and is now a reliable and well proven medium for communications.

Governance
The letter to the APUC USS pension guarantor institutions setting out how USS membership will be managed was approved by all relevant parties and signed in May 2012 and copied to all guarantor institutions. This closed all outstanding issues in relation to the legacy USS pension guarantee position.

APUC funding for the next 2 years was agreed with Universities Scotland, Scotland’s Colleges and the SFC.

The HE/FE Procurement Development Fund (HPDF), as mentioned earlier, was formally established as a SCIO with the Scottish Charities Regulator to administer the surplus funds from COUP 2011 for the purpose of procurement staff development.

At the APUC Annual General Meeting in May 2012, College sector representative Jim Crooks, Elmwood College, resigned from the Board and, prior to the AGM, Andrew Haddon, Langside College was elected to take his place. The appointment was confirmed by election as part of the AGM formalities.

The three non-sectoral Directors, David Ross, Stuart Paterson and Douglas MacKellar, also remain in office and are now on a 3 year appointment cycle (as per sector directors) allowing for majority continuity in the event of routine change of appointees.
Procurement Capability Assessments (PCAs)

The third year of the Scottish Government Procurement Capability Assessments (PCAs) took place across the sectors during the reporting period, concluding in December 2011. This was a transitional year for reporting, switching from assessments being carried out in winter and spring to being done in a single calendar year. As such the number of institutions assessed by the end of 2011 was reduced. A full round of PCAs will be carried out through 2012.

The results for the 2011 assessments show the continuing improvements achieved since the initial PCA with 0% institutions now in “non-conformance” and 66% now in the “improved performance” section. This achieves the targets set of 0% and at least 60% (to be in Improved or Superior categories) respectively by end of March 2012.

Some institutions were identified that could move from Conformance to Improved rating with some individual support from APUC. Building upon this tailored support work most have now achieved this rating following their latest PCA assessment and others are on course to do the same. Similar improvement work was offered to help other institutions during 2012.

The results for the HE/FE sector showing the improvements achieved are as follows:

!2009 HE/FE Results

- Non-conformance: 10%
- Conformance: 68%
- Improved performance: 20%
- Superior performance: 2%
